POLICY

			Revised 2019		Next review 2022

The College recognizes that United States copyright laws exist for the public good and balance the intellectual property rights of authors, publishers, license holders and copyright owners with the educational community's need for the free exchange of ideas. This includes both the protection of copyright holders' rights, and also the full exercise in good faith of fair use and teaching exemptions. This policy has been developed in accordance with the United States Copyright Act of 1976 as amended and the Digital Millennium Copyright Act of 1998.

Faculty, staff and students who willfully disregard this procedure and the copyright guidelines do so at their own risk and assume all liability for their actions. Violations of this policy may lead to corrective or disciplinary action up to and including termination.
